Beaten to Frazzle Jim Hoao Came Back And Earned a Draw

Jim Hoao, Hawaiian, is as game a boy as ever pulled on a boxing glove.

In the eighth round of his fight with George Gilmore at the Orpheum on Saturday night he was literally cut to ribbons by the rangy San Franciscan and in the sensational ninth round he took the count no less than three times, the gong saving him at the end of the round.

In the tenth round he was still groggy, but fighting from then on till the end of the twelfth with marvelous gameness and dogged perseverance, he beat his man to a standstill and earned a draw verdict. It is very probable that with two more rounds to go the native would have put Gilmore down and out.

Already there is talk of matching the two men over a twenty-round course.

Hoao is a very shifty boxer and has got the trick of ducking down to a fine point. He has a neat left and uses it more than the average boxer.

Fear was expressed after Hoao was defeated by Joe McGurn that the issue of that battle would put Hoao on the downward chute. It is extremely satisfactory that this has not been the case. Under the able tutelage of Bill Huihui, and providing that he takes care of himself Hoao should win many more laurels in the local ring.

Gilmore has somewhat the worst of the weights with the native. He has a rushing style and a long reach which could be profitably employed in a stand-off battle. He was not in the best of trim on Saturday night, having hurried his preparation too much and perhaps weakened himself by so doing.

The show was a very good one all the way through, and Promoter Lemon deserved a better house. The arrangements were excellent.

Prince Shades Wright.

Prince of Fort Shafter and Wright of Camp Verry, lightweights, furnished the curtain raiser, a four-round contest, and the form of the recent amateur tournament was confirmed, Prince getting the decision.

The first round was fairly even. In the second round Wright went fast at the start, but Prince scored with a series of left jabs toward the finish and earned the honors of the round.

Both men were very busy in the third and fourth rounds were even. In the fourth Prince did the most effective punching. Wright retaliated gamely, but trailed Prince on points.

Jimmy Fox of the U. S. S. West Virginia refereed.

The First Knockout.

The second preliminary was to have been a four-round go between "Mussy" Blanch, a recent arrival, and Harry School, formerly of the U. S. S. California. There was a wrangle as to the duration of the rounds, School insisting on three-minute periods, Blanch, who is a bantam, was outweighed by Blanch fully twenty pounds. The former said that the understanding was that the rounds were to be of two minutes' duration, on accounts of the discrepancy of weights.

Blanch was obdurate, however, and told School that he wasn't fighting under battleship rules this trip. Finally, in order to prevent disappointment, School agreed to three-minute rounds and the contest started, the referee being Serrano of Fort Shafter.

Blanch, confident that his weight would win for him, started after his man with blood in his eye, intent on making a quick finish. School defended himself cleverly and showed much class in the short time in which he was in action. Blanch carried too many guns for him, however, and at the end of the round put a right swing to the jaw which knocked School cold.

Blanch didn't get a hand when he left the ring. School, on the other hand, was loudly applauded.

He afterward challenged Blanch to a bout at 120 pounds.

Clark Beat Woodward.

Clark of the U. S. S. Navajo and Woodward of Fort Shafter next graced the ropes hooked to go six rounds. Fox was third man inside the ropes. Two-minute rounds were fought.

Honors were even in the first round. In the second Woodward played for the sailor's wind and more than broke even on points.

The third round was a givo and take session, but in the fourth the husky Clark sailed in and took a commanding lead.

The fourth round saw Clark fighting strongly, and toward the end of the two minutes he staggered Woodward with a hard body blow.

In the fifth a stiff jolt to the wind set Woodward gasping, and he was all in when Clark completed the wreck by crossing his left lightly over to the jaw.

Hoao vs. Gilmore.

Before the main event started Corporal Allen of the First Field Artillery challenged the winner, and a similar challenge was received from Serrano of Fort Shafter. Dick Sullivan called the men together and a clean break was decided on.

First Round—Gilmore rushed his man, who ducked neatly. In a second rush he put right to the face. Gilmore continued his rushing tactics, but Hoao got under his swings every time, to the evident puzzlement of the San Franciscan. Gilmore's round.

Second Round—Hoao put left to face and scored with a body blow. Gilmore went high after his man, but was unable to land. Hoao had the shade.

Third Round—Gilmore took the fight to the native at the start and seemed irritated by the later's evasive tactics. He roughed it a bit in the clinches and Hoao looked at the referee appealingly. Jim put a nice left to the jaw and then connected near the point with a right swing. Hoao's round.

Fourth Round—Hoao started in with his left, landing a couple of times on the face. Gilmore didn't relish his game, judging by the look on his face. Hoao kept after the mainlander and had him backing up. Jim smashed his left to Gilmore's throat and his head went back. All Hoao's round.

Fifth Round—Hoao landed almost at will and Gilmore seemed to be going. He rallied, however, and sent three good lefts to the face, cutting Jim's lip and setting his nose a-bleeding. Honors even.

Sixth Round—Gilmore came up strongly and went after his man in a businesslike style. He put his right hand to the ear. Hoao was distressed and seemed to be weakening. Gilmore buffeted him considerably before the round was ended. All Gilmore's.

Seventh Round—Hoao put right to the heart and followed with a hook to the jaw. Gilmore hesitated and Hoao kept busy. Gilmore started to stall a bit and the gong was a welcome sound to him. Hoao's round.

Eighth Round—Gilmore swung a hard right but missed, and Hoao shot in a left to the face and Gilmore went into clinch. Both men were tired. Gilmore rushed Hoao to the ropes and a fierce mix-up followed, the native getting the worst of the exchanges. Hoao was on his knee when the gong sent both men to their corners. Gilmore's round.

Ninth Round—Hoao came up weakly. Gilmore went in to finish him. Jim took the count, and though he could hardly keep on his feet on putting up his hands again, Gilmore could not put him out. Again Jim dropped to his knee and again he came up. Gilmore landed several times, but with insufficient force to do any damage. Hoao was making a feeble attempt to hit Gilmore when the gong sounded. Gilmore's round.

Tenth Round—Jim rallied marvelously. He put his left to the jaw and got a left to the face in exchange. Gilmore was too tired to follow offensive tactics and contented himself with covering up. Honors even.

Twelfth Round—Gilmore rushed his man, but was stopped with a straight left. Hoao was going strongly and essayed a right uppercut which just missed its mark. Gilmore covered up and went into a clinch. On the break-away Jim landed with his left and Gilmore put a feeble right to Jim's neck. Hoao shot his left to the mouth and the round ended with Gilmore very wobbly. Hoao's round.

High School played only nine men on Saturday against the Kams. Marcellus and Pyendo both scored against the Kams. The third goal resulted from a penalty kick.

The Oahu College girls defeated the St. Andrew's Priory team at basketball by the score of 13 to 9.

Soldier King Wins The Marathon--Beats Kaoo and Fitzgerald

The Marathon race run yesterday at the Athletic Park resulted in the defeat of Anton Kaoo and Jimmy Fitzgerald, another favorite, by Soldier King. Fitzgerald finished second. Time, 3:21:50.

The race was run in 3 hours, 14 minutes 10 seconds, the Hawaiian record for the full Marathon being 3 hours 12 seconds, to the credit of Kaoo.

There were about 1800 people present and the weather conditions were ideal for the long grind.

Kaoo received his guarantee of $300, King pulls down $100, and Fitzgerald gets $120 for his bit.

The starters were Sailor Woodward of the U. S. S. Colorado, Frank Scharach, C. K. Charley, Kaoo, King, Nigel Jackson, Barabozo, Hakuole and Fitzgerald.

Barabozo, a Filipino, was the first to quit, leaving the track after running a couple of miles. Scharach dropped out at twelve miles, Hakuole at fifteen miles, and Jackson at eighteen miles. Charley ran twenty miles in 2:59:41.

Fitzgerald led to the end of the twenty-second mile, when King assumed the lead. Twenty miles is apparently the Canadian's limit. King ran in nice style and finished strongly. He used his head and timed the race to a minute.

Kaoo was a disappointment. His poor showing was, however, in large measure due to the fact that he suffered from a "stitch" in his left side which he could not get rid of during the last half of the race.

Scharach was running strongly when he quit, giving as the reason a blistered foot.

C. K. Charley ran in his usual entertaining style and made a great hit with the crowd. For a fellow who has never had the benefit of systematic training the little Chinaman is a wonder.

Nigel Jackson, an eleventh hour entry, surprised his friends by going as far as he did.

Hakuole, a slow plodder, would have done better had he done more training for the race. As it was, he plodded along gamely.

Woodward was the dark horse of the race. He carried a lot of surplus weight, but ran strongly and in fashion to warrant the belief that with training he would give the winner a stiff argument over the Marathon distance.

The Race.

Woodward led for a couple of miles when Fitzgerald went to the front and held the lead for twenty miles. King closed up a gap of two laps before passing Fitzgerald.

The slowest mile of the race was the twenty-second, which was run in 5 minutes 7 seconds. The twelfth mile was negotiated in 6:38.

When Fitzgerald finished his twenty miles King was a lap and three-quarters to the rear; Kaoo, six laps; Woodward, sixteen laps; Charley, twenty laps; Jackson, twenty-six laps; Hakuole, thirty-one laps.

Kaoo started to walk in the eighteenth mile. He covered in all twenty-three miles and three laps. Woodward covered twenty-two miles.

The official score follows:

Miles.	Leader.	Time.	Time of Mile.
1	Woodward	7:45	6:27
2	Woodward	14:12	6:27
3	Fitzgerald	20:54	6:42
4	Fitzgerald	27:36	6:42
5	Fitzgerald	34:22	6:36

Rules To Govern Next Olympic Games In Far Off Sweden

The official programme and general regulations announced to govern the Olympic games at Stockholm, Sweden, next July, have been issued by the Swedish Olympic Committee and have been received by the local Amateur Athletic Union officials. The Swedish Olympic Committee is arranging the details in connection with the world's games and will be responsible for the success of the same, delegating the actual arrangement of the different sports to sub-committees appointed by the governing sporting associations of Sweden.

Foremost among the regulations included in the schedule for the Olympic games is the condition that the various competitions shall be confined exclusively to amateurs. The amateur status of every competing athlete shall be defined and guaranteed by the organization that in his own country governs the sport in which he desires to enter. In case there shall be no governing body in the country from which the athlete enters, the Olympic Committee shall pass on the qualifications of the athlete. (Continued on page seven.)
